The compressive strength of this Androscoggin County road has substantially increased since it was built in 1940!

18 years on Maine's Route 136

... soil-cement pavement grows stronger year by year!

Proved again—soil-cement holds up like no other low-cost pavement, delivers many years of dependable service.

Usually, 75% of soil-cement materials are free. Almost any soil, even old gravel and black-top, can be used. Mixed with portland cement and water, then covered with a thin bituminous surface, it gives a long-lasting road at low cost.

And soil-cement goes in fast. Over a mile a day can be built by well-organized crews using modern equipment.

Soil-cement is stronger inch for inch than any other paving material short of concrete. No potholes or soft spots. Low maintenance and long life stretch road budgets, permit long-range programming by engineers. It all means a better investment for taxpayers.

Write for free literature on soil-cement, America's longest-lasting, low-cost pavement.

MODERN soil-cement

Maine's "Spring Breakups" Solved With Soil-Cement
(from The Maine Townsman, June 1956)

"The city of Auburn is well pleased with the Spring showing of its 'soil-cement' pavement on Stetson Road extension . . . For the first spring in years Auburn has not had to post this stretch of Stetson Road to restrict truck loads.

The success of this new, low-cost pavement has permitted us to post other roads which in past springs suffered . . . and to concentrate the truck travel over the 'soil-cement' project."

NOTE: Spring of 1959 finds this project in flawless condition.

G.A. CAMERA CLUB ANNUAL EXHIBITION FEATURES FAMOUS PHOTOGRAPHERS

As a well-established feature attraction during the Gould Academy Commencement Week, the Camera Club this year will have as special attractions some forty pictorial photographs from the hands of two of America's outstanding experts: Mrs. Jane Heim and John P. Montgomery, Jr. Through his country-wide contacts as a member and former president of A.R.P.S., Gavie Foster, founder and faculty advisor of the Camera Club, has been able to secure over the past 17 years these outstanding photos, whose individual prints have often won national recognition and been shown as blue ribbon winners in every important salon showing in the forty-eight states and Canada.

Bethel citizens are fortunate to have the opportunity to see these pictures, which are to be hung for display in Room 106 in Hanescom Hall, from June 1 to June 7. While neither of these photographers calls himself a professional, their work is on a par with the "pros"; in composition, sympathetic approach, technical excellence, the pictures speak a universal language which even the layman can appreciate as being on the highest level of artistic endeavor.

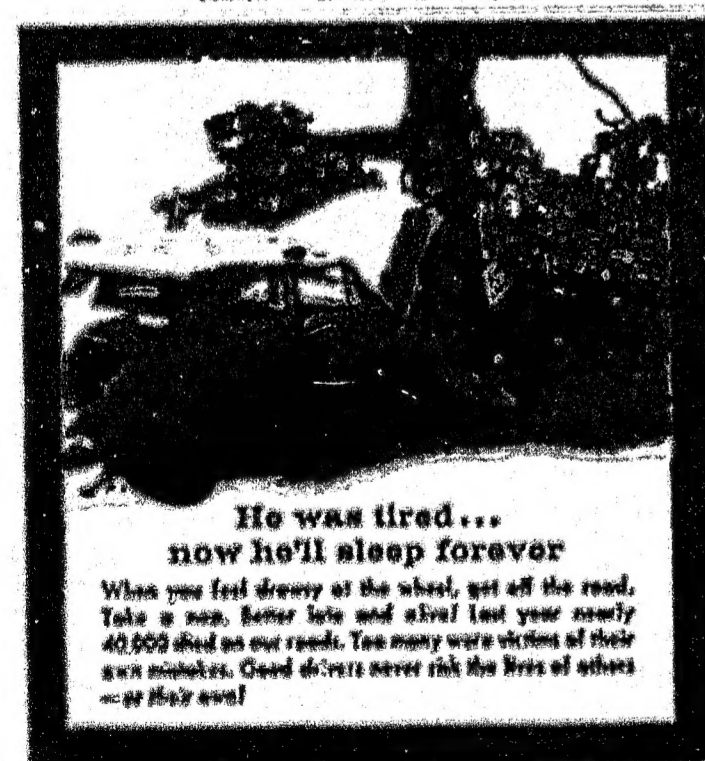

Mr. Montgomery's prints, on display in Bethel, have won medals and first prizes in salons from Cuba to Vancouver, from Hong Kong to Cleveland, and from Wisconsin to Johannesburg. His specialty is pictures of sailing vessels under every condition of calm and storm, of dashing spray with keel almost showing, to mirrored shadows under foreboding black clouds. His still lifes of leaves and graceful pitchers in so-called "high key" are luminously beautiful, while he does not neglect human interest in portraits of the child's innocence and the serene visage of age.

Several of Mrs. Heim's pictures are reminiscent of the industrial work of Margaret Bourke White in their stark outline and production of design. Then again she turns to close-up of texture, so three-dimensional that one can almost feel the smooth roundness of the onion skin and the roughness of the old boards in the fence. But it is in catching the elusive charm of children that Mrs. Heim seems at her happiest; proof can be found in Hanescom Hall for those who will seek out these delightful pictures which she has labeled "Secret Garden, Ode to Spring, and Water Nymph, to mention only a few."

The usual work of the club members will be on display, as well as the Academy Herald original pictures, from which the publication get its entire photographic material on school activities. A cordial welcome to all is extended to everyone who is interested. Remember that the exhibition will be held in Room 106, Hanescom Hall, while a refreshment show of the students' work for the past sixteen years is on display in the basement of Hanescom Hall, the boys' dormitory.

Peace is such a precious thing that I would give anything for it but truth.

When you feel drowsy at the wheel, get off the road. Take a nap. Better late than never. Last year nearly 40,000 died on our roads. Too many were victims of their own mistakes. Good drivers never risk the lives of others — or their own!

COUNTRY FLAVOR

THE MONTH OF JUNE

June is the month of light magic, and it is on or near Year's longest day that the Great Pageant of flowers spreads its display. Since early spring a succession of color waves has spread across fields and meadows, over upland ridges and in the sloughs. Earlier, in May, the cress mustard spread a yellow and white-tinted coverlet, followed by the pale blues of the field violets. The name of the bluet, Ceruleum, means the blue of the sky. After the blues, the ragworts open yellow blossoms. In half-shaded areas, the pinks and reds of the wild columbines, the lavender of wild geraniums, and the purple stripes of Jack-in-the-pulpit show soft hues.

As Year climbs to the solstice, the hawk weeds open—the tall yellow, the muscared, and flaming red Devil's Paint Brush that makes eye-arresting splashes of scarlet above timothy and clover.

Each day the amount of daylight increases; each day in the middle of June more flowers are near their time of blossoming. Light rays are the secret of the readying pageant. For 93 million miles they have travelled toward our planet at the constant speed of 186,000 miles per second. Color is the product of light and on a June day near the zenith, scores of spectra offer their beauty. It is the magic time of fruition for many plants also, when comes true the never-failing promise of first the blossoms, then seed, then the full kernels.

When day is done and shadows binnacle in the valleys and high peaks still gleam in the west, the spirit of peace hovers over the land. Chimney swifts finish their aerial circus and settle twittering for the night. A whippoorwill throws his call across the field from the pasture fence, and a robin sounds

MAN'S RECIPE

CHARITY'S CHOCOLATE DROPS

I enjoy many kinds of cheese and plan to evolve more recipes using this good, high-protein food. Many types of cheese have become world famous, most of them named for communities or regions. Early monks in European monasteries evolved cheese as a method of utilizing summer milk, and thus saved the product for winter use.

About 75 per cent of the cheese used in this country is cheddar, named for the English village of Cheddar. Historians think cheese was first made in Arabia, some 3000 years ago. Only two cheeses have been originated to date in the United States: the Colby, first made in Colby, Wisconsin; and the Wadsworth, originated at Van Wert, Ohio.

In today's recipe, we use cream cheese. I like this not-too-sweet cookie and will be glad to hear what you think of it. You need one half cup butter or margarine, one three-ounce package of cream cheese, one and three-fourths cup sugar, one egg beaten, two tablespoons light cream, one fourth teaspoon vanilla, one fourth teaspoon almond, two squares chocolate melted, two and a third cups flour, one and three-fourths teaspoons baking powder, three fourths teaspoon salt, one half cup chopped nuts.

Cream butter and cheese. Add sugar and blend. Add egg, cream, vanilla, almond and chocolate and blend well.

Sift in dry ingredients and blend. Add nuts and mix. Drop by teaspoon on greased cookie sheets. Flatten a bit. Bake at 350 about 15 minutes—or until done.

his final goodnight from the orchard behind the barn. This is June—the magic month, and wise is the man who savors its meaning and beauty.

TODAY'S Meditation

Chesupper Room
THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Thursday, June 4

Read John 12:30-36.

Walk while you have the light, lest darkness come upon you: for he that walketh in darkness knoweth not whither he goeth. While ye have light, believe in the light, that ye may be the children of life. (John 12:35,36.)

IF ever the world needed a gripping Christianity, it is today. Atheism, sweeping across Asia, is forcing Christianity under. Unless we are prepared to meet it with ideas born of Christ, rather than primarily with ornament and nuclear weapons, disaster lies ahead.

When Christ came to earth to save humanity, He did not choose Rome the center of the world ruling Empire. He sought not office. He wrote no books. The mighty did not accept Him.

But to the little circle of His friends He became a flaming fire. He gave them new conceptions of selfless service to others, of the depths of divine love, of the power of God in daily life.

In this time of profound world need, God is calling upon us, as He did upon Christ's disciples of old. He calls us to spread the flame of Christianity among those close to us and to set the world on fire with the gospel and spirit of Jesus Christ.

PRAYER: O God, give us courage, understanding, and love like unto Christ's. May He shine out through our lives so that we may win for Thee all those whom we touch. In His holy name we pray. Amen.

Thought For The Day
In the face of the world's need, our need is to live for Christ.

Gould Wins Andy Valley Meet
Gould Academy scored 49% points to win the Androscoggin Valley Track Meet and their fifth straight victory of the season. The other five teams came in with the following scores: Rumford 35%, Edward Little 38, Lewiston 25%, Farmington 26, and Wilton 11%.

The Huskies won first in only three events, but they were shut out only in one, the hundred yard dash. Wight won the shot put, Lincoln won the pole vault, and Freeman won the high jump, setting the record of 5 feet 9 inches.

The Gould squad with its coaches Roderick and Scott will leave Friday for Bangor to defend their Class M Championship. Competition is going to be keen, and they will have to produce top notch performances to bring home the crown.

Good Printing

SERVES EVERYBODY

Good printing is a necessity in all forms of business. It can save hours of work, speed up routine tasks, eliminate common errors and help to avoid misunderstandings and costly delays or actual loss of business revenue.

Good printing is a convenience in the home. Inexpensive personal stationery is not only economical and in good taste but it is plain "good business" when used for other than social purposes. One's name and address plainly printed offer exact information of your identity in occasional correspondence.

The latest in modern business forms can be adapted to use in many comparatively small businesses. As a matter of economy of time and money, it will pay to see what we can do for you in this line.

Remember that printed matter can be bought at widely varying prices. The bargain hunter can only hope to get his money's worth. The cost of good printing need not be high, and the buyer is assured of satisfaction.

It will be of advantage to all users of printed matter to consult us before buying. We can supply calendars, NCR and one-time carbon forms, many kinds of forms and office supplies promptly and economically.

MONEY FORCES, THE STOCK MARKET AND THE ECONOMY TODAY

Money forces have always been an important factor in the future trends of the economy and consequently have also affected the course of the stock market. Statistical studies reveal that in most cases the trend of the stock market has preceded that of the economy by approximately six months. The economy in turn in recent years has been affected by the supply of money. The Federal Reserve Board, primarily through its discount rate, is able to influence money supply although it is also influenced by the law of supply and demand.

As money comes into greater demand the prime rate of interest on commercial loans rises. This is the rate charged to leading companies. The banks in turn as the spread between the interest charged by the Federal Reserve Board through the discount rate widens have adjusted their rate to permit the leading of money and consequently frequently lower the standards to be met to borrow their money. Therefore it is necessary for the Federal Reserve as interest rates rise to raise the discount rate accordingly.

Eventually, as it becomes more difficult to borrow money, the upward trend of the economy slows up and a reversal of the trend occurs. Today the prime rate is as high as it was in 1947 prior to the business recession and it has been established a downward trend, the time to purchase bonds for upward move would appear to have arrived.

currently at 3%, but many observers believe that it will be raised to 3½% shortly to get it in line with the prime rate.

Today the yield on bonds is higher than it was in 1957 and also the highest since the early 1930s which suggests that eventually the prime rate on loans may go even higher. This tightening of the money supply has rather unfavorable implications in that eventually it may once again cause a reverse of the trend and a downward turn in the economy cycle.

Our statistical studies show further that a reversal in the trend of stock prices should precede that of the economic cycle by some four to six months. Also they show that stocks normally sell at the high levels of their cycle a few months prior to the time that bonds sell at their lows. From this evidence if history is a valid yardstick for measuring the future, the bond market should continue somewhat lower while the stock market may be rapidly approaching a point where it is reaching its highs. Once the stock market has established a downward trend, the time to purchase bonds for upward move would appear to have arrived.

IMPATIENT DRIVERS ONE OF GREATEST TRAFFIC HAZARDS TODAY

"One of the greatest traffic hazards of the present day, is the impatient driver who refuses to drive at a speed that is safe for conditions," our State Police reminded Maine motorists today.

The enforcement group pointed out that the intelligent way to drive is to let conditions of weather, road, traffic, the mechanical condition of your car, and your own physical and mental condition determine your speed. They also offer a six-point check list to help us in determining safe speeds — to help us to "Slow Down and Live!"

1. Drive at a speed which will enable you to stop within the assured clear distance ahead.
2. Slow Down before you get to curves and intersections.
3. At night, drive at a speed which will allow you to stop within range of your headlights.
4. Drive with traffic. You are probably going too fast, if you are passing many cars — too slow, if many cars are passing you.
5. Where children are playing, be able to stop within a car length or less.
6. When you're tired or inattentive, STOP.

BETHEL CLASS PLANS CONSERVATION TRIP

Bethel students are going to have a fine opportunity to learn conservation practices, when the eighth grade of Crescent Park School visit the conservation camp at Bryant Pond. The group left around 8:30 this Thursday morning, will stay overnight, and return late Friday afternoon.

While at the camp, the young people will be busy with various activities. Speakers will be present from the Dept. of Forestry, and Fish and Game Dept. and also a representative from the Central Maine Power Co. It is planned that the students will spend several hours a day receiving conservation instruction, and the rest of the time will be spent in field trips, conservation movies, and fishing. They will be housed in the dormitories at the camp.

Making the trip will be 47 students and six chaperones, Mrs. George Wright, Mrs. Olive Lurvey, Mrs. Poland, Mrs. Celia Gorman, Frank Chapman and Charles Heino.

Safe Driving Saves Money

By Martha Johnson
Dodge Safety Consultant

DRIVING like a professional will insure your safety as well as stretch your budget.

How?

Be a cautious driver.

Don't make "hot rod" stops. They burn extra gasoline and cause excessive wear of brake linings and tires.

Improperly inflated tires wear rapidly, generate blow-out-causing excessive heat and require more engine power. Over-inflated tires wear unevenly.

Brake adjustments—including the parking brake—are important. Dragging brakes can decrease fuel economy by as much as five miles per gallon.

Avoid driving at a high speed. You can save more than 25 percent in fuel costs by driving at 50 mph instead of 70.

Don't change speeds abruptly. Spot potentially hazardous road conditions ahead so you slow down or speed up gradually, without use of brakes or any appreciably greater use of fuel.

GEOLOGISTS TO STUDY AND MAP 4½ MILLION ACRES IN MAINE IN 1959

More than 50 geologists, in planes and on foot, will study and map nearly 4½ million acres in Maine this summer. Both the U. S. and the Maine Geological Surveys will perform aerial reconnaissance: students and faculty geologists from 19 universities and perhaps as many as 24 technical representatives of private mining and exploration companies will do field work. State Geologist John R. Rand said.

Preliminary aeromagnetic-geological surveying of the state, begun in 1957, is approximately 90 per cent complete, Rand said. This phase, which provides a general idea of rock formations and minerals existing over wide areas, will be completed in two or three years, according to present plans.

More detailed aerial and ground surveys are conducted in areas of interest indicated by reconnaissance flights. About 10 per cent of Maine's 21 million acres have been surveyed in detail.

Results of the surveys are made public, which can result in intensive prospecting and "proving" activities by commercial interests. Some half-dozen mineral and mining companies spent an estimated $400,000 in Maine for this purpose last year.

Commercial mines in actual operation in Maine now are
